BOBSTG@aol.com I forgot to mention that Francoise said the marriage contract has the same information as the PRDH it just says that Ignace was the son of Ignace Tremblay and that his brother Charles was a witness and his cousin Etienne Cantin was also present etc..... Ignace son of Ignace Tremblay and M Marguerite Dussault has a brother Charles and a cousin Etienne Cantin which is enough proof for me that he is the son of Ignace and M Marguerite Dussault. The other Ignace son of Ignace and M. Genevieve Simard was born 6 Jan 1744 and died his burial date was Feb 19 1774. Even if Ignace and Genevieve had another son whom they might have named Ignace..... Ignace and Genevieve never had a son Charles nor is there a cousin Etienne Cantin for this line of Tremblays. So Ignace Tremblay who married Marie-Anne Leclerc has to be the son of Ignace and M. Marguerite Dussault.^{130, 131}

This is the statue in the village of l'Ange-Gardien ("Guardian Angel") Quebec, erected in 1957 to commemorate the 300th anniversary of the wedding of Pierre Tremblay to Ozanne Achon in 1657. Pierre was given valuable land along the St. Lawrence River as a dowry of sorts upon marrying Ozanne, a "King's Daughter" (fille de Roi), one of many women sent to New France to populate the colony. The statute itself is a replica of the actual land grant deed ("concession") of 2 "arpents" (i.e., acres) of real estate along the St. Lawrence.

Many thanks to my distant cousin Benoit Tremblay for the translation:

Jean (John), lord of Lauzon and Lothainville, knight grand marshall of New France, to all whom may read these letters, our salutations.

Let it be known that we have given and conceded, give and concede by this act, for purpose of "cens" (sort of pole tax on peasants) and domainal rent to Pierre Tremblay, a concession comprising roughly 2 "arpents" (a local measure of land, approx. 90% of an acre) of land in front of the St-Lawrence river (prime real estate at the time, trust me) and extending one and a half league deep into our domain of Lothainville in Beaupre' The property is bounded in front by the St-Lawrence river, in the back by the route or road that will pass along the concessions, on one side by the lands belonging to the lord of Beaupre', and on the other side by the land of Adrien Ayot, following all lines and rumb (surveyor's marks/bearings) that will be shown to him.

For his uses by the said Tremblay, his heirs and assigns to do as he pleases with right to pasture, hunting and fishing, in front and within of the said concession as long as the said Tremblay pays the sum of 20 "sol tournois" (a fraction of a "livre tournois", i.e. a pound) for each front acre and 2 live chicken (chapon = young male chicken) for the whole domain. All can be paid to the account of our domain each year on the feast of St Remi in early October, along with cens (i.e., if Pierre has peasants working under him) and rental fees, loans and sales, confiscations and legal fees following the custom of the provost and county of Paris. When it will be the case, and when the said Tremblay will live within his concession or someone else will be there in his name during the year, otherwise this concession is null, he'll send his grain to the common mill, when one will have been built on our domain, enclose his lands otherwise he will not be able to claim damages made by his neighbour's (farm) animals, he will allow roads to pass on his land as it is judged necessary by our agents and to facilitate navigation and access to and from the river. In case of sale of the said concession, it will be possible to take it back (for ourselves) by reimbursing the principal of the sale, fees and real costs following the custom of Normandy, which we want to follow in this domain. the surplus will be delt with following the custom of Paris, Mandons, etc. For such has been given by us to the said Tremblay, following this we have signed this document and applied to it our seal, and had it countersigned by our secretary in Quebec (city) (Seal)
